FLORIDA EAST COAST BUILDINGS CONVERT TO SMART BUILDINGS

MIAMI, FL - Florida East Coast Realty (FECR), one of South Florida's leading real estate developers, and Hotwire Business Solutions (HBS), a division of Hotwire Communications, have formed a new partnership that will convert FECR's office properties, including 1101 Brickell Avenue in Downtown Miami and 2020 Ponce de Leon Boulevard in Coral Gables, into "Smart Buildings." A "Smart" office building provides tenants with advanced technology service options to improve operational efficiencies at reduced prices, and 1101 Brickell and 2020 Ponce will be the only buildings in their respective areas to offer fiber-based technologies.

This first-of-its-kind partnership will provide the occupants of FECR's office properties with an economical opportunity for easy, instant access to today's most important technological tools, such as high bandwidth, on-site video conferencing, and electronic off-site storage of critical records. Service options include redundant network connections, high-speed Internet connections, low-cost telephone services (VIOP), switchless telephone systems (hosted PBX), IP television, video surveillance systems, and instant remote data center access.

In addition to offering business owners the chance to incorporate the latest, state-of-the-art communications technology, this program can reduce the overall cost of telecommunications by as much as 20%.

Hotwire Communications, a privately-owned communications company with offices in Hollywood, FL, has built over 1,000 miles of fiber optic network in South Florida over the last five years and presently provides communications services to many of the premier residential locations from Palm Beach to South Miami. Hotwire's Business Solutions division provides IP-based, digital and high-definition cable television; high-speed Internet; advanced digital telephone services; premier security systems and security monitoring; telephone systems; hosted PBX; high-definition video conferencing services; and colocation and data security to commercial customers throughout South Florida.

HBS has facilities in Miami Data Vault (MDV), Miami's first and most secure data center, built to provide businesses with a safe location to house servers and protect critical equipment on an ongoing basis. MDV is especially necessary during any emergency or environmental circumstance, with its fully-redundant infrastructure, connectivity, and security systems. HBS, in conjunction with MDV, will be offering these services to the occupants of FECR's office properties.

In addition to extending its 10 Gigabit dedicated fiber ring into 1101 Brickell and 2020 Ponce and providing occupants with the ability to instantly upgrade their bandwidth as their business needs change, HBS will be outfitting and providing a high-definition video conferencing center at each property that occupants will be able to lease by the hour. These centers will allow these organizations and businesses to save time and money by removing the need for employees to travel in order to have real-time, face-to-face communication with people in other offices or remote locations.

Further, HBS will be setting up advanced security systems at each property that allow the monitoring of all public areas from a central location or via remote cell phone. Similar systems can be designed and installed within the office suites, so tenants can monitor their offices, remotely, at any time.

Located on a prime, 3.2-acre site in Downtown Miami, 1101 Brickell is currently home to one, 11-story and one 19-story office tower. After acquiring the property in July 2009, FECR began the renovations and beautifications of the grounds and buildings, which are planned to total a cost of approximately $9.8 million. Plans include the overall enhancement and modernization of the office buildings. In addition to the mechanical repairs and upgrades, future plans for 1101 Brickell include the construction of a new space for a signature restaurant and additional retail.
