Once completed, it will be the tallest residential building on the eastern seaboard south of NYC. "I love that I can drive down the street, point at a building and say 'I was part of that!' — it's thrilling to be on the front lines, witnessing and contributing to the transformation of the city I've grown up in!"

Serving as a "legal link" between immigrants and foreign investors from Latin America and the U.S., Maria Del Pilar Rubio has made a successful career out of designing investment structures for foreign and domestic investors to reduce their tax impact while assisting them with compliance matters in the U.S. "I've found there really is no 'secret' to success," she says. "Success comes with a firm commitment to yourself and to your dreams — education and experience are fundamental and empowering."
